Zipfizz Mango Lemon Lime Energy Shot Review

Well this would be my third Energy Shot Review and I have to say that I have been pretty pleased with the previous two of their Energy Drinks, the original and Orange Lemon Lime. I stated in my original review of Zipfizz that I hope they make more flavored shots and sure enough they did (probably not on my account, but that's what I like to think). So enough fluff, let's get to the review of the 4 ounce Mango Lemon Lime review.

Zipfizz Mango Lemon Lime Energy Shot Review: Taste

As I have stated before, probably numerous times, it is hard to make a concentrated energy shot as you have to cram a ton of energy ingredients into a small container. 4 ounces is not the smallest on the block, but it still constitutes a shot in my book and Zipfizz pulled off the Mango Lemon Lime flavoring beautifully. The exotic mango taste is followed up by a hint of lime. And although lime is not my favorite, the sweetness of the mango blend seemed to work great. Again there is a slight medicinal aftertaste to this one, but far less than your normal energy shot. Not my favorite from Zipfizz, but still a good showing. Taste Rating - 8.5

Zipfizz Mango Lemon Lime Energy Shot Review: Kick

Again, Zipfizz delivered on taste and I knew before getting into this review that they were going to deliver in the kick category as well because all the flavors use the same energy blend which consists of 120 milligrams of caffeine, green tea extract, taurine and an unbelievable amount of b-vitamins. And by unbelievable I mean 41,667% of your daily allowance. That's a lot of B-Vitamins! All this kick and flavor is delivered while being a Sugar Free Energy Drink - no sugar crash! Not too shabby. I can't wait to try the last flavor. Kick Rating - 9.3

Zipfizz Mango Lemon Lime Energy Shot Review: Final Judgment

Nice kick and a great flavor combination packed into a portable 4 ounce resealable plastic shot. With only 30 calories you can't go wrong. If you are into energy shots, give one of these a try. Final Judgment - 8.9
