Zipfizz Orange Soda Energy Drink Mix

I have tried three of the four Zipfizz Liquid Energy Shots and just found out that Zipfizz makes a portable Energy Drink Mix that you can carry with you and mix on demand for instant energy. I got myself a packet and decided to hold off on trying the other liquid shot and to try this mix instead. The mix I have is Zipfizz's Orange Soda Energy Drink Mix. It comes in a tube that is about as long as your middle finger and about the same thickness. The container easily fits in your pockets and is even more portable than their liquid shot. You're supposed to mix the powder in 16 to 20 ounces of water and then enjoy the drink. The orange packaging is nice, although with a package this small nobody besides you is going to see it.

I grab a water bottle, and dump the entire tube in. Instantly the Zipfizz Energy Mix starts to fizz up with an effervescent effect.

I guess that's how Zipfizz gets its name! Zipfizz Orange Soda Energy Drink definitely looks like orange soda with a nice white head of foam on top. Considering that this is sugar free, it's a really great orange soda. There have been a lot of energy drinks out there that try to replicate orange soda flavor: Uno Mas and AMP Relaunch come to mind, but none are as good as this mix is. The orange has that orange soda flavor that seems to burst with fresh orange and a little cream flavor like a creamsicle. There's also a mild carbonation, which helps keep the texture in your mouth novel and blends well with the mild tartness of the Zipfizz Orange Soda. The taste is clean with no vitamin flavor or bitterness which is an accomplishment considering how much is packed into that small tube.

Each tube of Zipfizz Orange Soda Mix has only 10 calories and 0 sugar. While it is light on the calories, in classic Zipfizz fashion, it is full of energy ingredients including: Vitamin C, Vitamin E, B Vitamins, calcium, magnesium, zinc, selenium, manganese, chromium, sodium, potassium, L-arginine, caffeine, taurine, alpha-lipoic acid, grape seed extract, green tea, American ginseng, and ginger root. I can't tell you if all those vitamins produce healthy benefits over the long term since I only tried Zipfizz Orange Soda on an isolated two occasions, but what I can tell you is that the combination of amino acids and herbal extracts produce a nice boost. Considering the small package that Zipfizz Energy Drink mix comes in, it produces a hell of a nice boost. After consuming the frothy orange soda, I found that I was wide awake almost like my eyelids were pinned open and the switch in my brain forced to the "on" position. I am very impressed with my first tasting of Zipfizz's Energy Drink Mix and am looking forward to reviewing the other three flavors.
